

Honors College All In One App

This capstone year, we have been tasked with designing an app for honors students to view and register for events targeted at honors students. Their Monday message is long and easily lost in spam folders or skipped over for egregious formatting and text walls. The app only has the single function of displaying and registering events, but with another capstone cycle and a new team. They can take the base of the app and add far more functionality, a friends system to chat with people, locational maps to see what's around you and what's happening around you in real time. Moving their majors emails updates (like EECS Undergrad Info) straight to their phone in a single app, easy to read and avoid text walls or skipping over emails. The app we developed for this capstone cycle is a skeleton with a single function at the request of the students and school. Its full potential is yet to be realized.
